MS. KELLEY'S LITTLE LEARNERS

Community Partnership Package

Preparing for 2027 | Greensboro, Kernersville & the Triad

Teach with Love. Lead with Purpose. Inspire Brilliance.

Explore referrals, hosted learning, family workshops, educational materials, and sponsorship opportunities. This information package begins a conversation; program scope, scheduling, costs, and responsibilities are agreed individually.

Ms. Kelley's Little Learners welcomes partners who believe every child deserves encouragement, meaningful learning opportunities, and a strong connection between home and education. Together, we can explore practical ways to bring infant enrichment, toddler learning, Pre-K readiness, and elementary tutoring to Triad families.

Find your place in the mission.

Schools & educators

Explore a referral relationship, family learning workshop, or tutoring pilot that complements classroom instruction. With family permission, discuss learning goals and ways to reinforce skills.

Possible contribution: approved family outreach, referrals, or an authorized learning space.

Churches & faith communities

Help connect families with nurturing learning support through a literacy event, parent-and-child activity, or community-hosted program.

Possible contribution: approved space, introductions to interested families, or sponsorship support.

Libraries, YMCAs & community centers

Explore story-and-play sessions, school readiness activities, family workshops, or a small tutoring pilot. Activities and scheduling would follow your facility's guidelines.

Possible contribution: accessible space, outreach, or a co-planned family event.

Nonprofits & family-serving agencies

Build a referral pathway for families seeking enrichment or academic support. Coordinate roles and communication so families understand their choices and next steps.

Possible contribution: family referrals, community connections, or collaboration on a defined pilot.

Local businesses & sponsors

Explore support for learning materials, family events, or scholarship sessions that help reduce financial barriers.

Possible contribution: books, age-appropriate supplies, in-kind assistance, or agreed program sponsorship.

Colleges & educator networks

Discuss connections with qualified educators, professional learning, or supervised student involvement where appropriate.

Possible contribution: educator introductions, expertise, or a carefully defined learning collaboration.

What we bring to the table

• Experience in early childhood and elementary education, with a warm, individualized approach.

• Hands-on enrichment and tutoring tailored to the ages, goals, and needs of participating children.

• Meaningful parent involvement and practical learning ideas families can use at home.

• Collaborative planning for program format, schedule, location, and communication.

• Respect for each family's background, culture, language, and learning journey.

Start small. Build something meaningful.

Share your community's needs

Tell us who you serve, the support families are seeking, and what kind of partnership interests you.

Shape a practical plan

Discuss a workshop, referral arrangement, sponsored sessions, or pilot. Confirm scope, capacity, costs, and responsibilities together.

Confirm, deliver & review

Agree on the details in writing before starting, then review participation, family feedback, and next steps.

Clear expectations from the beginning

Each partnership is discussed individually. Before delivery, we confirm age groups, availability, approved space, caregiver presence, safeguarding, insurance requirements, fees or sponsorship terms, cancellation arrangements, and privacy expectations. Family information and learning updates are shared only with appropriate permission. A partnership inquiry does not reserve a program or create an agreement.

Scholarships & material support

We welcome conversations about helping families access learning and about donated educational materials. Scholarship opportunities depend on confirmed funding and program capacity. Nonprofit status is planned and has not been approved; we do not promise that contributions are tax-deductible.

Tell us how you'd like to partner.

Include your organization, contact name, families or age groups served, location, and the type of support or collaboration you have in mind.
